

Status Report No. 1

Preface

This Report is the first of a quarterly series covering all aspects of speech research performed at Haskins Laboratories. Not all work in progress during the quarter will be described, but only that which has reached a certain stage of completion, e.g., equipment which has been constructed but not yet put to use, and experiments which have yielded sufficient data to be of interest, but which require further work before being published as entire studies.

Extended Reports and Manuscripts will contain papers written especially for the Report, texts of oral papers, and manuscripts intended for publication in various journals. Work not yet ready for detailed description will be found in Interim Reports.
