

Manuscripts for Publication, Reports, and Oral Papers*

Manuscripts for Publication

The Voicing Dimension: Some Experiments in Comparative Phonetics. Leigh Lisker and Arthur S. Abramson. Given at the 6th International Congress of Phonetic Sciences, Prague, 6-7 Sept. 1967.

Discriminability Along the Voicing Continuum: Cross-Language Tests. Arthur S. Abramson and Leigh Lisker. Given at the 6th International Congress of Phonetic Sciences, Prague, 6-7 Sept. 1967.

Laryngeal Behavior, the Speech Signal and Phonological Simplicity. Arthur S. Abramson and Leigh Lisker. Given at the 10th International Congress of Linguists, Bucharest, Aug.-Sept. 1967.

Interim Reports

The Scaling of Synthetic Speech.

Perception of Voiced and Voiceless Stop Consonants in Three Year Old Children.

A Brief Report on a Study of Imitation of Synthetic Speech Stimuli by Children.

Studies on the Development of Stop-Consonants in Children.

Computer Synthesis of Infant Vocalizations.

Some Attempts to Make Vowels Behave Like Speech.

Stimuli for Dichotic Listening Experiments.

---

* The Contents of this Report, SR-11, are included in this listing.

Oral Papers

Speech Research and Reading Machines. Jane Gaitenby and Franklin S. Cooper. A lecture demonstration in the Summer Session for Teachers of the Blind, conducted jointly by the Sensory Aids Evaluation and Development Center (MIT) and Teachers College (Columbia University), Cambridge, Mass., 3 Aug. 1967.

Measuring Aspects of Disordered Communication. Katherine S. Harris. Given at the Summer Symposium on Psycholinguistics and Disorders of Communication, Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois, 17-18 August 1967.

Three Invited Lectures on the Perception of Speech. Alvin M. Liberman. Given at the Speech Communication Sciences Laboratory, the University of Florida, Gainesville, Florida, August 1967.

Three Invited Lectures on the Production and Perception of Speech; Perceptual, Physiological and Acoustic Aspects of Production. Philip Lieberman. Given at the Speech Communication Sciences Laboratory, the University of Florida, Gainesville, Florida, August 1967.