

Learn how to put science into practice in your classroom at four professional development sessions led by Haskins Literacy Specialist Wendy North

Whether you are new to the Haskins approach to literacy instruction, would like a refresher, or hope to gain more in-depth knowledge about particular strands, these sessions were designed with you in mind!

All sessions will be held from 9 am-3 pm at Haskins Laboratories, 300 George Street, 9th Floor, New Haven, CT.

$150 fee per day includes parking and materials. CEUs available.

You can bring lunch, dine downstairs at Café George, or walk to area restaurants.

Save $100, sign up for all 4 sessions for $500

Sessions will include an Introduction to the Science of Teaching Reading, build background knowledge, and demonstrate how to implement evidence-based practices in your classroom.

Friday, January 16, 2009 and Friday, February 27, 2009

Phonological Awareness/ Systematic and Explicit Code Instruction—Part I Systematic and Explicit Code Instruction for Reading and Spelling—Part II

This two-day session costs $300. Parts I and II are required.

Friday, April 24, 2009

Vocabulary Instruction through Children’s Literature and Morphology

Wednesday, May 13, 2009

Oral language/Text Comprehension

Enrollment is limited to 20/session on a first come, first served basis.

Contact Project Coordinator Kim Herard at 203-865-6163, ext. 247 or herard@haskins.yale.edu to sign up.

Payments are to be made to Haskins Laboratories c/o Lisa Fresa, 300 George St., 9th Floor,
New Haven, CT 06511

www.haskins.yale.edu/hli