CONTENTS

I. Manuscripts and Extended Reports

Categories and Context in the Perception of Isolated Steady-State Vowels -- Bruno H. Repp, Alice F. Healy and Robert G. Crowder ........................................... 1

Tongue Position in Rounded and Unrounded Front Vowel Pairs -- Lawrence J. Raphael, Fredericka Bell-Berti, René Collier and Thomas Baer ........................................... 31

The Reading Behavior of Dyslexics: Is There a Distinctive Pattern? -- Donald Shankweiler and Isabelle Y. Liberman .................. 43

Articulatory Units: Segments or Syllables? -- Thomas Gay .......... 53

Selective Anchoring and Adaptation of Phonetic and Nonphonetic Continua -- Helen J. Simon and Michael Studdert-Kennedy ............. 65

Speech Across a Linguistic Boundary: Category Naming and Phonetic Description -- Leigh Lisker ........................................... 105

Discrimination of Subphonemic Phonetic Distinctions -- S. Lea Donald ................................................................. 113

Anticipatory Coarticulation: Some Implications from a Study of Lip Rounding -- Fredericka Bell-Berti and Katherine S. Harris .......... 121

Rapid vs. Rabid: A Catalogue of Acoustic Features That May Cue the Distinction -- Leigh Lisker ........................................... 127

Acoustic Characteristics of Normal and Pathological Voices -- Steven B. Davis ................................................................. 133

Speech Synthesis by Rule Using the FOVE Program -- Frances Ingemann ................................................................. 165

Segment Duration, Voicing and the Syllable -- Leigh Lisker ........ 175

II. Publications and Reports

III. Appendix: DDC and ERIC numbers (SR-21/22 - SR-54)

IV. Errata