Contents

Tiers in Articulatory Phonology, with Some Implications for Casual Speech
Catherine P. Browman and Louis Goldstein

Coarticulatory Influences on the Perceived Height of Nasal Vowels
Rena A. Krakow, Patrice S. Beddor, Louis M. Goldstein, and Carol A. Fowler

Domain-final Lengthening and Foot-level Shortening in Spoken English
Brad Rakerd, William Sennett, and Carol A. Fowler

A Note on the Time Domain Properties of a Dipole Source during Phonation
R. S. McGowan

Laryngeal Kinematics in Voiceless Obstruents Produced by Hearing-impaired Speakers
Nancy S. McGarr and Anders Løfqvist

Physiological Bases of Acoustic LRT in Nonstutterers, Mild Stutterers, and Severe Stutterers
Ben C. Watson and Peter J. Alfonso

Morphological Structure and Segmental Awareness
Ignatius G. Mattingly

Rapid Naming Is Affected by Association But Not by Syntax
Claudia Carello, G. Lukatela, and M. T. Turvey

Does the Study of Latin Affect Spelling Proficiency?
Joanne F. Carlisle and Isabelle Y. Liberman

Rhyme Generation by Deaf Adults
Vicki L. Hanson and Nancy S. McGarr

The Challenge of a Physical Account of Action: A Personal View
M. T. Turvey

Appendix

SR-92 October-December 1987