

The Haskins Community

At the heart of Haskins Laboratories are the people who comprise the Haskins community, including staff, scientists, educators, and students. The Laboratories employs a small full-time staff, half of whom are investigators and half of whom are in technical and administrative roles. In addition, the Laboratories staff includes part-time investigators, post-doctoral fellows, and graduate students. The part-time staff and the students usually have academic positions and come from a variety of institutions. The community is fluid, thus the list has been provided as an insert that is current as of July 23, 2009.
